APD hosted tour for orphans from Kidsave Program

Kidsave kids outside of the Forensics Lab and East Substation after their tour.

The Austin Police Department hosted a tour of the Forensics Lab and East Substation on Wednesday, Aug. 6, 2008 for orphans from the Kidsave Program.

Fourteen kids from Colombia between the ages of 10 and 14 years toured the Forensics lab, Photo Lab, police station and saw a patrol car up close.

Kidsave is a volunteer organization that works to move older children out of orphanages and foster care into permanent homes. Kidsave's mission is to work collaboratively with government agencies and the private sector to transform the child welfare system and communities worldwide so that no orphan or foster child is forgotten, and every child grows up in a family with love and hope for a successful future. For more information on Kidsave visit their Web site at
